ABOUT...

From a young age, Ulie Schwab, fascinated by art, dedicated herself to various creative activities such as painting, sculpture, ceramics, music, Ikebana and dance. She studied painting at the Ecole ABC de Paris between 1976 and 1977 under the guidance of Professor Georges Pacouil and later, amongst others, with the Swiss artist Pierre Beck. Her studies and practice of Traditional Chinese Medicine and her attraction for Japanese culture have strongly influenced her artistic approach.

Since the opening of her studio in Bursins in 2009, she has devoted herself entirely to painting, working as a freelance artist.

Her style, technique and blend of colors are very personal. The creation of reliefs, various color layers and the inclusion of minerals confer to her paintings a special light and reflection. She has exhibited her work on several occasions in China, Switzerland, the European Union and in the United States. Her paintings can be found in collections in many countries. One of them is hanging in the office of a federal councillor at the Swiss government in Bern.
